- Booking date: With babies having an agenda of their own, I understand a certain date cannot be promised surrounding the birth of your little one. We will discuss an ideal date you will pencil in, which can be shifted according to when you are home and ready with your baby. I ask that you contact me after baby has arrived to arrange the date.
- Documentary/Candid style images done within your home or other arranged location. (includes studio). Please discuss your home surroundings with me in consultation prior to your booking date. A well-lit area is best, if spaces within your home may not be suitable, an alternative location is sometimes a better option. I prefer not to bring in Flash Light Photography to home newborn sessions, however the option is still open if need be.
- Option to photograph in the lifestyle area of studio.
- Newborn wardrobe/accessories are not included in the candid collection, clients to provide their own. It is recommended everybody is wearing neutral clothing, free of branding and bold patterns.
- Newborn sessions can take anywhere from 1 to 3 hours depending on your little one's temperament on the day, so please make sure to allow yourself up to 3 hours. This time includes where you need to change nappies, feed, settle etc in between photographs. The candid collection generally is quicker than staged collection and will not likely take 3 hours due to documentary style photographs.
- Prior to your Newborn Photo Session, it is recommended your little one has been bathed, fed, and changed before we start.
- A posed family portrait can be included if requested amongst your other photographs.
- Please ensure you don't have family and friends visiting at the time of your booking. This is to ensure there are no disruptions and best results are achieved within the time allowance of your photo session. I understand a lot of family and friends like to pop in over the newborn stage 😊 Please be aware that an audience is not ideal in a photograph session, and it can be a little overwhelming for a new mum and baby with a hectic space of people. My interest is to maintain a calm space for my clients during our photograph session.
- If you would like to include extra family members outside your immediate family (grandparents, aunts & uncles etc), please discuss in consultation prior to booking payment, as an extra fee does apply in this instance.
